Welcome to the 2017 Los Feliz Ledger School Guide. This annual primer for neighborhood parents is compiled using information from schools, their websites and LAUSD.net. The list is comprised of elementary and secondary schools in Los Feliz, Silver Lake, Echo Park, Pasadena, Glendale, and surrounding neighborhoods. We have included a diverse array of public, charter, magnet, private, and parochial schools within the K-12 spectrum. All tuitions listed for private schools, their websites and application processes. Parents should also be aware of one significant change for the 2018-2019 school year. LAUSD will require all applications for public dual-language programs to go through echoices as well. The online application period runs October 2 – November 9, 2017. Go to http://echoices.lausd.net for more information.

We make an effort to address a huge variety of interests and socio-economic groups in our annual guide. If you feel we have overlooked a gem of a school, feel free to reach out. As a part of the Los Feliz and larger Los Angeles community, we are proud of all our local educators and students.

Polytechnic houses over 25 buildings set on 15 sprawling acres in Pasadena. The nationally recognized facility has been educating 7,000 kids since 1907. The word “polytechnic” literally means “many arts” and the school’s philosophy and curriculum reflect that. Learning is coordinated across all grades and evolves to meet students’ developmental needs at every stage. Challenging academics are augmented by athletics (student participation is 82%), outdoor education, arts, and global programming. The school also hosts speakers, film series, book clubs, and popular events like the 100-year-old Poly Pottery and Hobey Show.
